ABOUT HUMANA PEOPLE TO PEOPLE IN SOUTH AFRICA

25 years working with poor communities in their strive to create better life conditions
Humana People to People in South Africa (HPPSA) is a national registered NPO registered with the Department of Social Development. It was established in South Africa in 1995, with the goal to respond to the socio-economic needs of the poor. Its first project was established in Soweto in 1998 in cooperation with the local South Africa government. It is a member of the International Humana People to People Federation. Humana People to People works with establishing innovative long and short term development projects to support children, youth, women and men to protect themselves against diseases; improve their skills and to improve their conditions in general to provide for themselves, their families and communities.

In 2020, Humana People to People in South Africa ran 18 community projects in 5 Provinces reaching out to 251,825 people.

Health

- Working with communities at large to reduce new incidences of HIV & AIDS, and TB.
- Linking HIV & AIDS and TB patients to care, treatment and support.
- Working to empower communities tormented by HIV & AIDS, TB, COVID-19 and other diseases to confront and overcome them.
- Fighting the spread of malaria in border areas.
- Building resilience and capacity of communities and health facilities
- Working alongside communities to stop the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Community Development

- Building the capacities of families, especially women, and their communities to encounter the challenges of everyday life.
- Protecting children, working to ensure that their upbringing is safe and healthy and promote their potential.
- Engaging young people to be active participants in their communities’ development.

Food Relief

- Supporting communities to establish vegetable and herbal gardens.
- Educating families on healthy diets and demonstrating nutritious recipes.
- Income generating.

Education

- Training pre-schools to deliver child-centered early childhood education.
- Literacy campaigns and capacity building of poor community members.
- Skills training of youth in life skills, activism and entrepreneurial skills.

Message from the Chairperson

To our Partners, Colleagues, Stakeholders and Friends.

2020 has been a year that has put high demand to the organization’s strength. Humana People to People in South Africa had good plans in place, when we started the year, with sleeves rolled up and ready to give the new year our very best.

The pandemic came to us all as a surprise, and the lockdown forced us to quickly change approaches. Some projects were more affected than others. We gathered around one aim: to keep spirits high and not let the pandemic stop the much needed development for the people in the projects. South Africans have known many challenges and have built strong resilience in the fight against difficult times before.

But yes, it has been a hard year, and Humana People to People in South Africa has had stringent policies and practices of taking care of all staff as well as the people in communities, and thereby contributed to limited losses.

We are happy to report on the results, which have been achieved. The good programs with their well thought out structures combined with active community participation have really showed their strength, and have also provided us with new insights that we can use in the future.

Humana People to People in South Africa has continued its fight against HIV & AIDS & TB, malaria and added COVID-19 to the list of diseases that have affected the communities. It has been important to keep the focus on all four diseases during 2020, and our efforts have been embraced by the people, who have all contributed to saving lives and building resilience.

People in the Child Aid projects have continued the passionate work in their various formations and supported each other with income generation and food security, protection against health issues, and taking good care of the children.

In KwaZulu-Natal, we have continued the support to the very young children in the Pre-school of the Future program. 43 preschools in Ilembe have improved their work with the children, and 40 young future pre-school teachers have undergone training in child-centered and holistic early childhood education.

I want to salute the staff for their continuous efforts, and also bring a big THANK YOU to our partners with whom we have worked shoulder to shoulder throughout the year. We look forward to 2021 and prepare ourselves for the continued development which is bound to take place in 2021 and in the years to come.

The Humana People to People Charter

Promoting the humanization of mankind, the only art form that contains the seeds to the flowers of happiness for all.

The Humana People to People Charter
OUR VISION AND MISSION STATEMENT

We look upon South Africa as a country with great resources in its people, its culture, and its nature. We look upon South Africa as a country, which plays an important role in the African continent and in the world. We also look upon South Africa as a country with great challenges to be addressed in order to create a society where all people can fulfil their dreams and develop their potential.

Only by a collective effort, these challenges can be overcome.

In The Spirit Of Solidary Humanism, We Will:

- Work with the people to take care of our planet and be ready to fight the challenges of climate change;
- Train and empower communities to take total control of HIV, TB, Malaria, COVID-19 and other pressing health matters;
- Educate, nurture and inspire children to become active and responsible members of society;
- Equip individuals and families to meet their economic needs through skills training and income generating activities;
- Empower youth and adults with professional and life skills to play their part in development;
- Promote, advocate for and support volunteerism as an integrated part of creating development that benefits both the people and the society as such;
- Practice and promote non-discrimination, global understanding and cooperation and contribute to creating equal opportunities for everyone;
- Deliver relief, care and support to vulnerable groups;
- Co-operate with other organisations, government departments and local structures to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals by 2030 as set out by the United Nations.

MISSION STATEMENT

It is about fostering new generations with golden hearts and heads and hands, well-educated and with a personal ethic of such proportions, that humanized relationships of all sizes can serve as substitutes for all sorts of dehumanized phenomena.

From the Humana People to People Charter
Taking control of HIV and AIDS and TBs and COVID-19 in 2020
People at the centre when taking control of epidemics.

TCE is committed to make sure South Africa achieves the 95-95-95 goal by 2030

- 95% of HIV infected people know their status
- 95% of them receive Anti-Retroviral Treatment
- 95% of the treated achieve suppressed viral load

Humana People to People in South Africa has since year 2000 been at the forefront of fighting HIV & AIDS in South Africa. In 2002, we launched the first TCE program – Total Control of the Epidemic – in Braamfischerville, Soweto. Since then, the TCE program has reached out to 5 322 095 South Africans in five provinces.

Total Control has always been our goal and hundreds of TCE Field Officers have mobilized, educated, tested millions of people to take control in their lives and offered care and support to those who were HIV positive. Many testimonies from people, health personnel and officials have given credit to the program.

In 2020, Humana People to People in South Africa has continued with the TCE program although at a much smaller scale due to more limited funding. 4 TCE projects ended in Eastern Cape, and a new program was implemented in Mpumalanga and Gert Sibande targeting migrants. By the end of 2020, new funding was achieved to implement TCE in Mpumalanga districts targeting 15,000 adolescent girls and young women.

TB has over the years become an integrated element of TCE as TB and HIV are closely linked. In TCE we have therefore screened all HIV positive people for TB and referred them for further diagnosis and care when they showed symptoms of TB. In 2020, TCE Field Officers were also engaged to give information about COVID-19 and mobilize for testing.
TCE targeting vulnerable populations in Mpu- malanga

In the commercial farms in Ehlanzeni, Nkomazi, Mkhondo and Albert Luthuli, Humana People to People in South Africa in partnership with USAID implemented a “Preventing HIV in Vulnerable Populations” program. Started in 2018, the program was operating under an existing TCE program.

The idea of the program was to create awareness and increase HIV Testing Services (HTS) for people in the farming community and informal settlements. The aim was also to identify and prevent new HIV infections among adolescent girls and young women using the Stepping Stones methodology.

The program carried out awareness campaigns in schools among adolescent girls and boys and mobilized them to join Stepping Stones Clubs to become active advocates against gender based violence.

The program also reached out to farming and migrant populations, of which many also formed their own Stepping Stones Clubs.

Opportunities have opened to and used by the migrant and mobile populations to know their HIV status by being tested for HIV and linked to treatment and care. A platform was created for victims of gender based violence to come out openly and report the incidents and receive assistance from government services. Also the uptake of condoms increased in the farming and informal settlements since its inception.

Some of the highlight achievements in 2020 include:
- 24,428 participants took part in the clubs with 2,443 clubs formed.
- Out of 11,909 participants tested for HIV, 144 tested HIV positive and were linked to treatment.
- 284,498 number of condoms distributed
CASE STORY: Being HIV positive is not the end of the world. It is important to support each other.

My name is Nonkululeko Hlatshwayo, working as a Field Officer under extension 14 clinic in Gert Sibande. On the 11 of January 2020 I was doing door to door registration of the households, screening for TB and communicable diseases, and testing for HIV. I then met a couple and mobilized them to be tested for HIV. They agreed and the HIV results came out positive for both.

They were shocked, thinking that it is the end of the world and also not knowing what is going to happen next. I offered them post counselling, and explained to them about the importance of taking the treatment (ARVs) combining it with healthy eating to suppress the viral load. I referred them to the clinic, and followed up that they actually went the next day.

I must say the guy did not the take the news well, he was in disbelief asking for a second test and also blaming his girlfriend saying it was her who infected him. I then explained how HIV is transmitted and made him understand that he cannot be blaming his girlfriend, when he should have used condoms. I will be monitoring them, making sure that they support each other and continue to take their treatment.

I’m very happy with this program that Humana People to People is implementing in our community because people now have access to health services and are able to ask anything they want to know without the fear of being judged.

HOPE Humana Gert Sibande
HOPE Humana COJ
Resourceful centres of support when diseases like HIV, TB and COVID-19 strike

Humana People to People in South Africa has implemented HOPE projects since year 2000, when its first HOPE project started in Pinetown, Durban.

In 2020, Humana People to People ran 3 HOPE projects in 3 provinces: HOPE Bushbuckridge, HOPE Mopani and HOPE uPhongolo. All HOPE projects worked closely with the Department of Health and Social Development, and also received funding from other donors. In 2020, the HOPE projects reached 37,420 people with information on HIV and TB and COVID-19 and linked many people to critical health services, hereunder HIV testing, medical male circumcision, screening for TB and care and treatment for HIV and TB. HOPE projects also offered support to orphans and vulnerable children through skills training and psycho-social support.

The HOPE projects have become resourceful centres for the communities, where people seek support and also themselves are active in fighting some of the most devastating effects of the diseases.
HOPE Mopani closed end of June 2020, however 3 new HOPE projects were opened in November in Gauteng, Gert Sibande, and Eastern Cape.
HOPE BUSHBUCKRIDGE

Funded by the National Department of Social Development, HOPE Bushbuckridge was established in 2007 under Bushbuckridge Local Municipality, a disadvantaged rural area. This area has a number of challenges such as; high unemployment, crime, poverty, high illiteracy rate, gender based violence, teenage pregnancy, high number of orphans and vulnerable children due to HIV and AIDS, and more certainly the lack of adequate access to basic services such as health and education. In 2020, the program created different platforms where young people have interacted with their peers as well as participated in various community activities discussing critical issues they faced on daily basis.

HOPE uPHONGOLO

Hope uPhongolo was established in September 2013 in Zululand under uPhongolo Local Municipality, one of the poorest areas in the province with the highest number of youth unemployment. The project is funded by the National Department of Health. Most of the population live in scattered rural settlements making it a challenge and costly to efficiently provide infrastructure and service delivery.

Communities have participated actively in health awareness campaigns on the most pressing health issues. Among the results can be mentioned that 1800 people were tested for HIV of which 570 were HIV positive and referred for further treatment. 800 men successfully underwent the procedure for voluntary medical male circumcision. The project opened a drop-in centre, and 214 children and youth took part in skills training and other support.

HOPE MOPANI

Hope Mopani was established in 2007 in Limpopo to mobilize educate and support disadvantaged communities affected by HIV/AIDS and Tuberculosis (TB) with improved health services through mobilization and lessons learned, community members are empowered. Bordered in the east to Mozambique and in the north to Zimbabwe, Mopani is a high transit area positioning the community at higher risk of HIV infection. In addition to these challenges, the people of Mopani District are faced with serious challenges of malaria incited by the high volumes of cross-border migration.

During 2020, communities demonstrated an increasing awareness about HIV/AIDS and TB. We have seen an increase in number of men going for voluntary medical male circumcision services at health facilities. Young boys and males changed their behaviour as a result of their participation in program and new infections among them decreased.

Unfortunately, the project had to close in June 2020 due to lack of funding.
CASE STORY: Understanding the stigma as a barrier to seek the needed health service

I am Gugu Masango a Community Health Worker working in Pauline Morapeli clinic. We provide health information to the communities that we are working with and also do HIV testing and linkage. On the 12 of January, I met a lady and spoke to her about the work I do and introduced HIV testing and counselling program. She then became interested in knowing her status.

I started with the pre counselling but noticed that she was not interested in that, as she kept on asking me when I am pricking her. I explained to her the procedure and that pre counselling is of importance as it is aimed at ensuring that she makes a well-informed decision about whether to have the HIV test or not, and it will encourage her to explore the possible impact that having the test may have on her life. During the pre-counselling I asked her who will be her supporting system should she test positive and she said, she doesn’t have anyone to talk to.

We did the test and the results came out positive. I offered to accompany her to the clinic to initiate the treatment. She bluntly refused to go with me and promised to go on her own the following morning. The following day I went to the clinic, and she was not there, after hours of waiting I decided to give her a call and it went straight to the voicemail, I called the next of kin and unfortunately the number she gave me didn’t exist. I traced her with her address and when I arrived she was at home, when she realized that it was me she did not waste any time, she told me where get off, saying that “When I get time I will gladly go to the clinic on my own, I do not need you to keep nagging”.

With advice from the nurse at the clinic, I continued to go back to her.

After a week I went back to her house and fortunately she was there and to my surprise she had started her treatment already, but she had decided to use another clinic. One of her reasons was that one of her relatives works in the clinic I had referred her to. It made sense and made me realize that most people default their treatment because of stigma. Stigma and discrimination is still very much alive, making people vulnerable to HIV. Some people living with HIV are rejected by family, peers and the wider community. We cannot be ignorant, HIV-related stigma and discrimination exists worldwide.
Eliminate malaria

Child Aid uMkhanyakude

Working to eliminate Malaria in North-Eastern border regions

Although malaria has almost been eradicated in South Africa, there are still occurring up to 30,000 cases per year, especially in the border regions to Mozambique, eSwatini and Zimbabwe. Humana People to People in South Africa has since 2016 been implementing malaria elimination campaigns in cooperation with the National Institute for Communicable Diseases and funded by LSDI2.

Our Malaria programs are serving the under-serviced populations in these areas through the installation and implementation of health service posts for malaria diagnosis, treatment and mobile surveillance. They focus on migrants and mobile populations, given the risk of parasite importation from countries with high transmission, particularly with the undocumented immigrants, as they often face complex obstacles in accessing essential health care and malaria-control services. This, in turn, results in undetected and untreated malaria cases and increases their vulnerability to malaria-related morbidity and mortality.

The population has shown high appreciation of the services and has participated actively to eradicate malaria in their areas.

The project is centred around 3 focus points:
1. In Ehlanzeni, along the borders of Mozambique and eSwatini reaching mobile migrant populations (MMPs).
2. In Limpopo, in the border region to Zimbabwe in Vhembe, Mopani and Capricorn.
3. In Zululand, along the borders to eSwatini and Mozambique

Accomplishments reached in the previous year includes:
- 107,962 people were tested for malaria
- 1,233 people were tested positive and received treatment
- 11,470 learners took part in malaria lessons
Child Aid is another flagship program of Humana People to People in South Africa. In 2020, we implemented five Child Aid projects in five Provinces.

Child Aid is our name for integrated community projects, as they all aim to create safe and nourishing environments for children and youth. When communities thrive, the children thrive.

The Child Aid program is implemented through 6-10 lines of development identified by local needs and working with families that take an active part in the program. Families are organised in self-governing groups and committees, who train themselves using manuals to take action for change. Hundreds of children and youths are participating in the projects and thereby grow up to see themselves as active members of their communities. Each project works closely with other civic organisations and government services.

All in all, 10,780 families have participated and benefited from the projects.
CHILD AID DOORNKOP
Child Aid Doornkop is Humana People to People South Africa’s first project, established in 1998 in Soweto. The project has worked with the National Department of Social Development and Department of Health in Gauteng and also received funding from other donors. In 2020, 4,022 families were active in the program starting income generating activities, running their own backyard gardens and developing skills training in computer literacy and carrying out home-based care to bedridden patients in the community. During the COVID-19 outbreak, the project staff and volunteers went all out for the Doornkop community assisting in making sure that they have food, given enough information about Covid-19 during health campaigns outreach and also screening for Covid-19 symptoms.

CHILD AID TUBATSE
Child Aid Tubatse was established in 2006 with funding from the National Development Agency and has received funding from various donors and government agencies over the years. In 2020, the project was characterized by the lively participation of hundreds of youths and their contribution to garden and tree-planting activities and a big skills training in entrepreneurship, financial literacy and leadership. Children are active in the pre-schools and clubs. 560 families were active in the program. The project is today supported by the Department of Social Development and ApexHi.

CHILD AID BAKENBERG
Funded by the Limpopo Department of Health, the project was established in Waterberg District in 2006. In recent years, the project has been contracted by the National Department of Social Development and also received funding from the Global Water Challenge to improve the access to clean water for the communities. In 2020, many children and young people were active, among others as members of the Young Farmers’ Club, and families establishing 325 back yard gardens to provide themselves both with income and healthy food.

CHILD AID MTHATHA
The project is operating in the informal settlement area of Phola Park in Mthatha funded by the National Department of Social Development. 2020 was its first year of operation, and it has achieved good results despite of the COVID epidemic. 2,252 families took part in the program, each of them starting small gardens. Through skills development, drama, reading, and school clubs, the program is significantly contributing to the increase in literacy levels of children aged 5 to 18 years.

CHILD AID ABAQULUSI
Funded by the Nelson Mandela Children’s Fund, Child Aid AbaQulusi was established in 2016 with the aim of mobilizing and educating communities about maternal and child health. In 2020, 2,397 families took part in the program, among them 221 pregnant women. Children in 28 pre-schools were immunized, and 2,846 children and youth took part in various events and clubs.
CASE STORY: Child Aid changing lives

I am Jacqueline Mphogo working in Child Aid Tubatse as a Community Health Worker at Dresden village. There was a 19-year-old man who was referred to me to assist him to apply for ID.

The man did not have an ID, and his living condition was terrible; he lived with his sister and his nephew in a one-room shack. They all relied on social grant money which is not enough to sustain a household.

I accompanied him to Home Affairs to apply for an ID, and he was referred to Social Development due to his circumstance. As a project, we managed to come up with a plan and assisted him with a donation of clothes for him, his sister and nephew. The boy is now receiving food parcels every month, and he managed to get his ID. The program is really making a difference in this area.
Pre-schools of the Future - POF
Creating a better future for young children in iLembe District in Kwa-Zulu Natal

Still too many children in South Africa cannot access ECD services hence it is crucial to carry out this program, ensuring holistic access for many poor children to proper early childhood development. It is for this reason that Humana People to People in South Africa started its pre-school program in KwaZulu-Natal in 2014.

The Pre-schools of the Future program, widely known as POF, has developed ominously over the years in line with government policy and ECD needs within communities. The idea is to mobilise poor communities to establish Early Childhood Development (ECD) centres and promote holistic child centred development using the Humana People to People concept of Pre-schools of the Future (POF).

Humana People to People in South Africa works together with the KwaZulu-Natal Experimental College (KNEC) to train ECD practitioners in the concept of POF.

Changes made by the program are visible. At least 1,058 children were able to access immunization and other health service on time. There’s a huge increased number of community pre-schools who are now qualifying to meet government requirements to register with the Department of Social Development (DSD). The project also succeeded in developing a program book, which is in use by all the pre-schools teachers in the program. This in turn has led to teachers’ improvement in offering better education to their children.

Achievements in 2020 include:
- 43 pre-schools participating in the program.
- 40 pre-school teachers were studying for National Qualification Framework (NQF) level 4 qualification at KNEC.
- 1058 number of parents participated in the program
- 18 pre-schools qualified for registration by the Department of Social Development (DSD)
- 43 nutritional gardens were established in different pre-schools
CASE STORY: Our ECD now registered and one of the best!

The POF project brought a huge development in our ECD centre. Two years ago, Thandanani Community crèche was poor and did not have much to offer the children.

Before we had no learning material, no outdoor space for kids to play, no toys, and no garden. Thandanani was not a safe and healthy place for the children.

But now, all that changed, we now have learning material, toys, food and backyard gardens and an active parents’ committee, and all the staff teachers have received training. Training of teachers had a very good impact on our centre, because now teachers have more knowledge and they are trained on how to educate and embrace children.

We want to thank Humana People to People and the government of Monaco because they gave us an experience of how we could improve our centre by our own forces, we just needed that support. Now we have been registered with the Department of Social Development, and have more resources and are better trained to offer good care and education to the children. Our centre is now one of the best ECD in the community and we are a good example to other centres.

Food relief initiative during lockdown for needy communities

COVID-19 is taking its toll on the world, causing deaths, illnesses and economic despair. Due to the virus spreading rapidly, the South Africa government took drastic decision to stop the spread of the virus by placing the country under a strict lockdown from the 26 of March 2020. Since the lockdown started, it was evident that it affected the poor more than others as the need for food rose. The government pulled out all stops in making sure that all citizens had enough food during this lockdown, not everyone benefitted.

In partnership with the HCI Foundation and eNCA, Humana People to People in South Africa delivered food parcels to the disadvantaged families. The food parcels were distributed in these communities; Doornkop in Gauteng, Mopani in Limpopo, KwaZulu-Natal in Vryheid, Pongola and Mangangeni. Doornkop was the 1st to receive the food parcels followed by other Provinces. The food parcels served a great deal to the families as most of them had lost their jobs, and others could not do any piece jobs due to lockdown restrictions. We understand that life in the time of this COVID-19 is unprecedented but we believe that together we can fight this virus and we will indeed win the battle. The initiative contributed to a big change to many families. 2150 families benefitted from this initiative.
FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In 2020, Humana People to People South Africa spent approximately ZAR 76 million on our development projects in South Africa. Our major source of funding was generated from our partnerships in development with governments, foundations, companies, organisations and multilateral grant mechanisms for specific programmes, projects and activities of common interest.

PRESENTING OUR PARTNERS

PARTNERSHIP IN DEVELOPMENT

Humana People to People in South Africa works with a diverse range of partners with whom we share the same social and human development objectives.

Partnerships are mutual: a partner may provide the funding needed for a project, while Humana People to People South Africa provides solutions, because it is rooted in a given community, has tried and trusted project concepts ready, and possesses the needed capacity. Partners include international, national and local governments, foundations, the private sector, multilateral agencies and international organisations.

Partnerships are key to our ability to create and maintain meaningful social and human development projects in accordance with the world’s development agenda.

Humana People to People maintains strong and active collaboration with its partners, through on-time delivery of both programmatic and financial reporting, through field visits or ongoing communication to exchange emerging challenges and lessons learned. We also offer good exposure to our partners through our website, social media and publications.
Humana People to People In South Africa is member of the Federation for Associations connected to the International Humana People to People Movement. It comprises 29 independent national member associations.

Our common agenda is to protect the planet, build communities and support people by connecting them with others, unleashing their potential for positive change and action.

The Federation supports the members in delivering critical on-the-ground programmes across Africa, Asia, Europe, North America and South America. This support includes programme development, project management and operations, financial management support and help to promote our common agenda and gain influence through important relationships and partnerships.

The activities of the Humana People to People movement are aligned with the UN 2030 Agenda. Together with the people in the communities and our numerous partners, we continue to stand by countries as they strive to meet the Sustainable Development Goals, creating lasting positive change in the process.
“It is about improving human relationships on a contemporary basis and to modern standards. It is about the emancipation of every single human being on the level of personal happiness and at the same time, making each human responsible for the happiness of his neighbours through practical methods.”
