

About Malawi

The Republic of Malawi is a landlocked country with an estimated population of 18,091,575 (as at July 2016). Malawi is among the world's least-developed countries. The economy is heavily based on agriculture, with a large rural population.

About DAPP Malawi

Development Aid from People to People (DAPP) Malawi is a locally registered NGO that has worked in Malawi since its establishment in 1995. DAPP Malawi is a local member of the Humana People to People Federation.

The objective of DAPP Malawi is to promote social and economic development. Through a variety of development models, DAPP complements the government's effort in implementing the Malawi Growth and Development Strategy III. The people engaged in the development initiatives of DAPP are trained and equipped with tools and knowledge enabling them to transform their dreams and wishes for a better life into practical actions.

Currently, the DAPP projects in Malawi are focused on four of the pressing development issues in Malawi:

- Increasing access to inclusive quality education
- Improving food-security and economic growth among small holder farmers
- Improving children's conditions
- Fighting HIV & AIDS, TB and Malnutrition.

DAPP Malawi in numbers, 2018

In 2018 DAPP Malawi implemented 17 projects - including the operation of four teacher training colleges and one vocational school - and reached out to 789,000 people compared to 750,000 in 2017.

The organization employed 767 staff and worked with 2,400 local volunteers.