

About Mozambique

Mozambique has an estimated population of about 29 million people. The country is endowed with rich and extensive natural resources. The country's economy is based largely on agriculture, but industry is growing, mainly food and beverages, mining, chemical manufacturing and aluminum, coal and natural gas production.

Map of ADPP's Projects

About ADPP Mozambique

---

ADPP is a Mozambican non-governmental association. It was established in 1982 and has grown steadily during its 37 years of existence. It currently implements over 60 projects across all provinces of the country, employs around 3,000 staff and benefits more than 2 million Mozambicans annually.

ADPP Mozambique is active in four main sectors, namely: Education, Health, Agriculture and Renewable Energy. A special focus is given to improving primary education through Teacher Training, improving food security and livelihoods in rural areas through the Farmers' Clubs and improving community health through the HIV/AIDS, TB, Malaria and Nutrition Programs. All ADPP Programs are based on the holistic development of the local communities, which is seen as the key to reaching sustainable results in each of the program areas.

ADPP Mozambique in numbers, 2018

---

ADPP Mozambique is continuously growing in numbers of people and projects. It currently implements over 60 projects across all provinces of the country and benefits more than 2 million Mozambicans annually with its development programs and nearly 3 million people with the Second Hand Clothes sales. The organization employed in total 3,100 staff and worked with 17,800 volunteers.